California Managers in Cities from Marysville to Menifee

McFarland city manager John Wooner mysteriously disappeared in 2019. The investigation into exodus gained significant attention due to the suspicious circumstances surrounding his final days, and the subsequent discovery of his body months later. He was appointed city manager in 2011. He had worked for the City of Fillmore as a finance consultant. John was last seen on May 14, 2019, at Hillcrest Memorial Park in Bakersfield. He was there to visit his father's grave. After he failed to return home, his wife reported him missing. His body was found on July 28, 2019, following a 10-week search. His Dodge Durango was discovered submerged in the Kern River along Highway 178, and his body was inside. The Kern County Coroner's Office eventually ruled his death an accident caused by drowning and blunt-force injuries. In 2020, John's estate formally filed a claim against the City of McFarland, alleging he was improperly fired from his position for missing work while he had died in the accident on the river. The city had officially terminated his contract for "being absent without leave" on July 12, 2019, just two weeks before his body was found.
